The Philadelphia Public Ledger, not merely owned by the able Mr. Curtis, discovers that there is a new progressive. Mr. Curtis sees it in Iowa, Nebraska and a mile high in Wisconsin, where La Follette's victory makes conservatism shake its hoary head. Just as the country thought, in official quarters, that it was settling down to a long reign of capitalist conservatism, up comes the "new progressive."

You cannot escape your fate, as a German proverb has it. And you never can tell what will happen. Eugene Tamm was ferociously radical while the Car were in power. He fought, Carism, and spent ten years at hard labor under the Car's rule. Then came the end of Carism, with Lenin and Trotsky, and Tamm threw his hat high in the air. Now he is dead. Bolsheviki succeeded to the Car, condemned him to death with eleven of his friends. He wasn't quite radical enough or radical in the right way. He didn't like his prison, and killed himself, putting his head into a ventilator, causing suffocation, according to the report.

Disillusionment is a great power, greatest in the world. But how many of the disillusioned know what would happen or how it would seem, if they got what they ask for.

The railroad engineers' union, well managed, conservative, intelligent, buys for two and a half millions a six-story building in Cleveland, to have a national bank, owned by the Locomotive Brotherhood. To own a bank is good. For a union to show that it knows how to invest two and a half millions, and has the money, is another good thing. One thing people of all kinds and colors realize in the United States, and that is TWO AND A HALF MILLION DOLLARS.

The famous philanthropist, Nathan Straus, said to this writer, when both were young: "Nathan, I know you haven't any money, but for heaven's sake don't tell anybody. You have no idea how much it hurts your standing."

Dr. R. C. Murphy, of many learned societies, says materials of the sea need protection. That will interest William Jennings Bryan, for sea mammals, whales, dolphins, are mistaken, "lived at first in the sea, later went up on land, got legs, learned how to have children born alive and how to nurse them.

Then, giving up the struggle on land, they wandered back to the ocean, where they lost their legs and became water animals once more. Every whale, when you dig under the blubber and find his bone in his skeleton. Mr. Bryan ought to look at them.

Sea mammals dying out are the manatee, or sea cow—you read about her in boys' adventure stories—the seal and the whale. All are vanishing rapidly.

However, all animal life, on the earth, except man, the ruler, will disappear eventually, including let us hope, microbes and all worms.

Sea mammals, like the manatee, might as well go first.

The American Federation of Labor, wisely declines to call a general strike to express sympathy with the shipmen. To hit everybody on the head to show that you are sorry for somebody's weakness is wise.

Occasionally mourners scratch and cut themselves and howl. That's savage; but if they must do it, they must. But for all workers of the United States to strike all the people of the United States, to show that they don't

Condition of President's Wife Shows Improvement After Night of Anxiety

BULLETIN

Washington, Sept. 8.—Attorney General Daugherty said today: "Mrs. Harding spent a restless night. I think she has a chance of recovery."

It is understood that opales were administered. The attending physician described Mrs. Harding's speech as "incomprehensible."

Washington, Sept. 9.—The condition of Mrs. Harding wife of the President, critically ill at the White House, was reported at 9:30 a. m. today to be "favorable as can be expected at this time."

A bulletin issued by Brigadier-General C. E. Sawyer, physician in attendance, said Mrs. Harding had a "fairly good night," and that conditions of yesterday were "less threatening."

Dr. Sawyer's statement follows: "Mrs. Harding had a fairly good night. The complications of yesterday are less threatening this morning. On the whole, her condition is as favorable as can be expected at this time."

Secretary of War Weeks, who was an early visitor at the White House, was assured there had been a direct improvement in Mrs. Harding's condition. The patient's temperature at 5 p. m. was temporarily 100.5.

NEW YORK GOLFER TAKES LEAD AND MAINTAINS IT IN THE MORNING GOLF FINALS

The Country Club, Brookline, Sept. 9.—Jesse Sweetser, Metropollitan and former Intercollegiate golf champion, was two up on Chick Evans, former National titleholder, at the 13th hole on the morning round of the National championship final golf. The youthful New Yorker led the commanding position of the time, three times being two up on Evans and new wave than even with the latter.

Sweetser wins first hole. As was expected, Sweetser had the longer drive at the first, and right then Sweetser gained the lead by easily making a par on the 1st hole. He failed to reach the green, while Sweetser was comfortably on with an iron. Chick's approach was short and his putt was a poor one. Sweetser's putt was a perfect one. Sweetser's putt was a perfect one.

From the second tee each birdied the rough with Evans barely missing a birdie. Sweetser was easy and approached easily, barely making the green. Chick played up nicely and failed to hole.

Evans looked his best shot of the third in a trap, but recovered nicely. Sweetser was on the line and just short of the green. In three strokes Sweetser was down and in two more for a birdie. Chick's third was on, but he missed a put for a half in five, taking six and becoming two down.

Sweetser outdrew Evans by 15 yards of the fourth tee and on the eighth he was 18 feet beyond the pin. Chick was but five feet by the pin and held his putt for a birdie. Sweetser's approach was a fine one. Sweetser's approach was a fine one.

Evans takes two putts. In the 14th Evans took two putts. Sweetser's approach was a fine one. Sweetser's approach was a fine one.

VALERA STAYS AWAY AS DAIL STARTS WORK

Flapper Flags Fast Express and Gets a Coal Dust Tan

By International News Service.
Dublin, Sept. 8.—Eamon De Valera, commander-in-chief of the Irish Republican forces, failed to appear today when the new Dail Eireann (Irish Free Parliament) convened for its first session. Prof. Hayes was elected Speaker, succeeding Prof. MacNeill.

Although a number of members who are in sympathy with De Valera's cause consulted together and decided to attend the session, only Laurence Ginnell showed up at the first meeting. He created a scene when he refused to sign the membership roll.

"I charge that the Dail Eireann is the instrument of the British Government," shouted Ginnell. "He was ruled out of order, but continued his speech."

"I challenge the authority of this body," cried Ginnell. Finally the rebellious member was forcibly ejected.

William T. Cosgrave, home secretary and acting secretary for foreign affairs, was elected president of the Dail Eireann, succeeding the late Arthur Griffith. Cosgrave had no opposition.

IF MAYFLOWER IS BARRED, NO RACE

Gloucester, Sept. 8.—That the Boston schooner, Mayflower will be a contender in the International Fishermen's race if she wins the American elimination series off Gloucester, or that there will be no race was the outspoken sentiment of a meeting of the American Race Committee at Gloucester last night. Strong objections to the entry of the Mayflower, especially designed fishermen, have been advanced by the Canadian officials. Passes of the ship have been sent them in proof that she is a real fishing vessel. Should the committee not accept her entry it is doubtful if any other American ship will be named.

GOVERNOR SPOULS' DAUGHTER ARRESTED

Philadelphia, Sept. 8.—A reckless motor driving, it was said today, was the cause of Governor Spauls' daughter, Mrs. J. M. Wald Hixson, falling into the hands of the Philadelphia police, along with another young woman and a young man. The Governor arrived at the police station after his daughter and the young woman had departed. The young man's identity or that of the other young woman was not disclosed by the governor.

CIGARETTE CAUSES AUTOS TO CRASH

North Reading, Sept. 8.—Lighting a cigarette while driving an automobile, Frank P. Razeur, No. 65 Hudson street, Lowell, lost control of his machine and crashed into another car, seriously injuring Frank E. Smith of North Reading who was riding with him. The crash occurred on Main street, near the Commonwealth Club. Frank E. Ricker, No. 40 Court st., Boston, is owner of the other machine.

EDWARDS SAYS 'WALSKA WILL SING IN PARIS

As announced several days ago in the Boston American, Major-General Edwards will be the new commander-in-chief of the Massachusetts National Guard.

In a letter received by Governor Cox today Major-General Edwards formally accepts the commission tendered to him by the State, and says he is "fully appreciative of the honor involved."

The Boston American was the first paper to publish the important piece of military news. At that time the story was denied by other Boston papers.

She Learns How Hair-Trigger Boilers Help Engineers to Get a Raise

By THE FLAPPER.
(Oryl Frink)

"I stood on the railroad track
The fireman rang the bell
The train rushed on to Providence town

And I went along with it—
But not until Joe Gooch stopped the old train and yelled at me.

"Hey, you with the plunk ear, where'd ya think I'm, anyhow, Boston Common! This here's the fast train an' it's s'miricle you weren't mashed to bits. Whadda ya' mean by such foolishness!"

"I'm looking for the president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford," I smiled, sweetly. "And I'm on his tracks, now!"

"Well, I'm not gonna stop my train any longer," snapped Joe. "Decide what you wanna do."

"I wanna run the engine," I told him. "I also wanted to be Casey Jones."

"All right," said Joe weakly. "Swing up."

FAST TRAIN GOES.

In a minute he had jerked a lotta levers and things that resulted in a lotta noise and motion. The fast train was speedin' ahead to make up for lost time.

"Say, Joe," I said, after several moments of silence, "why'd we whizz by East Sandwich? The time table has us scheduled to stop there."

"I fugged," said Joe, with his eyes straight ahead on the rails. "I'm mad at the station agent."

"Bein' an engineer's dangerous, isn't it?" I shouted, after a while.

"Is it?" snorted Joe. "Say, Mac you tell 'er."

MAC TELLS HER.
A ministerial act came forward from the shadows of the coal bin and grinned good-naturedly.

"Dangerous don't half tell it," said the engineer. "Why, if this boiler should bust—"

"Might it?" I interrupted, nervously.

"We never e'n tell," sighed Joe, mournfully. "S'up to happen any minute an' s'up to happen a fall."

"G'lick," I said. "What happens when it does up and bust?"

"Nobody ever lived to say," said Mac.

"Except Jim Mills," remembered Joe. "Jim was engineer of the Molly N. That was in the days when engines were named, same as boats. He was about the on'y one that—just a minute—"

Joe interrupted himself to just a spluttering pipe. "—that's the way them things happen. We gotta watch the water all the time. Well, as I was sayin', Jim Mills was about the on'y one as ever came down in less'n two pieces.

BLOWED SIXTY FEET.

"Which was pretty good, I've been blowed up sixty feet, huh? But Jim's been a punishment ever since. Look out, Mac! Mind the coal, n' boy."

"Say, listen, I said, 'Wouldja jus' as lief let me off the next stop?'"

"Sure," said Joe, slowing down the engine. "An' you're lucky you e'n get off. Looks us guys. We gotta stay on—"

"Unless," I said, as I let myself down from the cab of 829, "unless you get blown off."

DR. SULLIVAN'S LAST SUNDAY AT ST. PAUL'S

Tomorrow will be Dr. Edward T. Sullivan's last Sunday at St. Paul's Cathedral for this Summer. The topic at the 11 o'clock service will be "The Touch of Human Hands." The Summer choir of men and women will sing the Russian hymn, in the Russian manner, "Berepanast' 'Cherubim Hong' and will also sing "Unfold Ye Portals," from Gounod's "Redemption." This service will be given by the Reverend Dr. Sullivan. At the evening service, at 7:30, Dr. Sullivan will preach by request a sermon preached to the morning congregation several Sunday ago, entitled "How the Wounds of Life Are Healed." The "sanctus" from Gounod's "St. Cecilia" Mass will be sung, the tenor solo being rendered by Chantey W. McLeod of the Cathedral Choir, and "Unfold Ye Portals" will be repeated.

Ten Years at Filene's

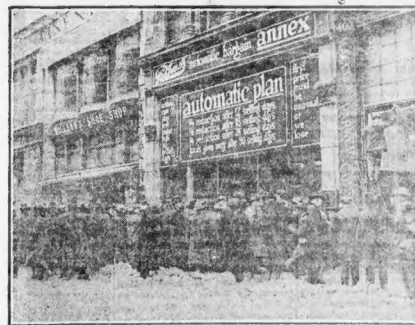

How the Bargain Basement store grew—and why

BACK in the old days, in the cramped cellar of the old Filene store, the unique policies of the Automatic Bargain Basement proved themselves beyond question. Greater things waited only on greater room. With the new building, ten years ago, came the first real opportunity to show what these policies could accomplish. The very large Basement store business of today is the eloquent record.

What are these magic and much imitated policies? Briefly stated, thus:

1. Nothing sold unless below regular price.
2. No free delivery, no charge accounts, and all service charges and other expenses kept down to the minimum.
3. An automatic price-reduction plan forcing a low first price on all goods.

CONTRARY to general impression, less than one per cent. of the basement stocks comes from the upstairs store. Trained men and women basement buyers, backed by ready cash, search all possible markets for dependable goods that can be bought for less than their worth. Manufacturers' and jobbers, surpluses, bankrupt retail stocks, models, samples, odd lots, desirable "seconds"—all is grist that comes to the Basement mill, if the quality is worth while and the price is right. No wonder then that one day last December (and not the busiest day either) seventy-six thousand people, by actual count, walked through this unique store below stairs. No wonder then that this store has increased its business more than ten times in ten years.

Crowds in front of the Filene Automatic Annex on opening day

NO wonder then that the first selling space secured outside the main building was claimed by the fast-growing Basement—even though this space was on the street level. January, 1920, saw the opening of the Filene Automatic Annex, two doors north of the parent store and extending through to Franklin street. Given over to men's wear entirely, this annex made a decided hit. Today it is a well-established store, with its own buying organization, and doing more than a million dollars' annual business.

Tomorrow a tale of growth in other directions—Chapter 6

A feature of the Filene Anniversary will be the Parade of Fall Fashions to be held in the Copley-Plaza ballroom afternoons and evenings, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, September 11, 12 and 13. Among the attractions at the afternoon performances will be an exhibition of ballroom dancing by Elizabeth Hines, now starring in "Little Nellie Kelly." Cards of admission may be had free on application at Personal Service Bureau, street floor balcony, and Information Desk, sixth floor.

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

New investigating conditions in the West.

Don't you like this true anecdote?

An old San Francisco character, Daniel Meyer, who from humble beginnings had succeeded in becoming an important and very wealthy founder, was walking along the street alone one evening at a time when hold-ups were quite frequent. An Italy looking fellow stopped Daniel and asked him: "What time is it?"

Instead of stopping to take out his watch, the suspicious old banker replied: "It's time to run!"

With that he was off down the street, lickety-split.

Henry Ford's announcement that he means to shut all his plants next Saturday has caused something like consternation. Ford gives as his reason the scarcity of coal. A good many people, however, expect the operation of the decision to shut down has been influenced by falling off in orders. The reasoning is that Ford could not possibly be making 4,000 to 5,000 cars every day during the winter months and that he is glad to find a plausible excuse for closing the doors for the time to pile up cars.

Ford is the theme of many a discussion throughout the west. He has had a record of success, of course, and a few critics. Some of his critics, who are accustomed to banking on anything, have declared that the labor union, which is the cause of the strike, is the cause of the strike. Ford is the theme of many a discussion throughout the west.

Some of the newspapers in the west have made quite a noise over the Wall Street position. The reason is that the position of the west has been made quite a noise over the Wall Street position.

BOGASH WILL WIN OVER ANDERSON, SAYS LEW FLYNN

NEGRO FIGHTERS IN BOULDER FOR TITLE

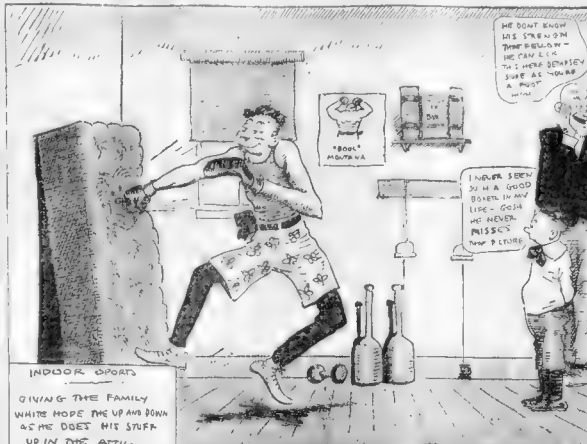

By JACK CONWAY.
Lew Flynn says the Black Thunderbolt will win the big light-heavyweight title battle at the Boston Arena Monday night.
Flynn likes to refer to Kid Norfolk as the Black Thunderbolt. He says he has proved worthy of the name, which is more than can be said of a lot of other ring men who are known as Wilkies, Cyclones, Asses and such things.
Of course, everybody knows that Norfolk is booked to battle Lew Anderson in a ten-round bout at the Arena A. C.'s show.
This means that as the most important battle between two fighters who have been staged in this city in several years. Whoever we have had a fight has been a battle of the title. It has usually been a case of just one man battling some other. It has not been a knockout victory in a few rounds for the favorite.
This will not be the case Monday night. Norfolk and Anderson are the two leading light-heavyweights in the world. Norfolk is former world light-heavyweight champion. Anderson is the present titleholder as a result of his nine-round knockout victory over Norfolk at Boston, Arizona.

Either Anderson or Norfolk would probably be able to defeat Harry French of Pittsburgh, so called American light-heavyweight champion. It is also believed that either of these black fighters would stand an even chance of winning George Carpenter.

Anderson Has Impressed Fans by His Work.
Anderson has done his training in the open at Park St. in the old Jockey club. Many fans have availed themselves of the opportunity of seeing this negro in action. He has made a big hit in everybody who has watched him. He has fought and lost a fight in which he will knock Norfolk out as soon as he can.

But as Anderson has also knocked out Willie Morgan and Sam Langford and fought a draw with Billy Miller, it looks as though the Flynn entry is in for
